

Conduct Standard

CALHN Volunteers

Principles of Conduct

Central Adelaide Local Health Network (CALHN) will ensure that persons desiring to act as a volunteer on its site familiarise themselves with the content of this standard. It is a requirement that as part of the permission granted to them to act as a volunteer, they are at all times whilst performing volunteering functions, to conduct themselves in a manner consistent with the values and standards of professional conduct that are set out herein.

Accountability

Volunteers are accountable for exercising their delegated authority and for performing their role within the values and standards of conduct outlined in these principles.

Diversity

Volunteers should be as diverse as the community it serves. The views and experiences of all people should be respected, regardless of nationality, gender, cultural or social background, sexuality, religion, age, or physical or intellectual ability.

Values

The South Australian Public Sector is continuously evolving. Values have been defined for the public sector which is in part based on the traditional tenets of public service. Yet they also reflect the evolution of the sector, and the modern world in which it operates. All volunteers should endeavour to embody the values in their volunteering efforts.

The values are:

Service

Proudly serve the community and Government of South Australia.

Professionalism

Strive for excellence.

Trust

Have confidence in the ability of others.

Respect

Value every individual.

Collaboration and Engagement

Create solutions together.

Honesty and Integrity

Act truthfully, consistently, and fairly.

Conduct Standard

CALHN Volunteers

Courage and Tenacity

Never give up.

Sustainability

Work to get the best results for current and future generations of South Australians.

Volunteer Conduct Standards

General Compliance

Volunteers will act in a manner consistent with all legislation, industrial instruments, policies and procedures and lawful and reasonable directions relevant to their role.

Professional and courteous behaviour

Volunteers must at all times display professional behaviour and treat others with respect and courtesy. Volunteers are seen as representing the public sector agency in which they work and must act in a manner which will not in any way discredit the agency.

Public comment and Media Engagement

Volunteers are not permitted to make public comments on behalf of the health site, its services, or government policies unless specifically authorised. Any authorised public comment must be restricted to factual information and professional advice relevant to the volunteer's role. Volunteers must ensure that personal views or opinions are clearly distinguished from official communication. While volunteers retain the right to engage in public discussions on community and social matters in a personal capacity, they must refrain from making comments that could be perceived as representing the health site or its affiliated organisations without explicit consent.

Handling official information

Volunteers with access to official information will ensure it is only used for official purposes and will be handled according to relevant legislation and public sector agency policies and procedures. Volunteers will only disclose official information acquired through the course of their volunteering when required to do so by law or where appropriately authorised by Central Adelaide Local Health Network.

Use of government/public resources

Volunteers shall use government/public resources responsibly and only for the appropriate purposes as authorised. Government/public resources include physical, financial, technological, and intellectual property.

Conduct Standard

CALHN Volunteers

Conflicts of interest

Volunteers must guard against a conflict of interest by ensuring that personal interest does not improperly influence the way in which they carry out their duties. Volunteers must declare any known conflict of interest and not participate in any decision-making process where they have a conflict of interests.

Acceptance of gifts and donations

Volunteers will not, for themselves or others, seek or accept gifts or benefits that could be reasonably perceived as influencing them. Volunteers must comply with any policies of their public sector agency in relation to accepting, declaring and/or recording the receipt of gifts or benefits.

Criminal offences

Volunteers will advise their Team Leader of the Volunteer Services Unit if they are charged with a criminal offence, and if admitted or proven, there would be the propensity for the volunteer, agency, public sector and/or Government is brought into disrepute.

Reporting unethical behaviour

Volunteers will report to the appropriate authority workplace behaviour that violates any law, is a danger to the environment, or represents corrupt conduct and maladministration, as defined in the Independent Commissioner Against Corruption Act 2012. The Whistleblowers Protection Act 1993 informs volunteers of their rights and responsibilities where applicable in the particular circumstances.

Volunteer Rights

The South Australia Public Sector is committed to applying the Volunteering Australia National Standards to processes and practices involving volunteers.

Accordingly, it supports the following as the basic rights of a volunteer.

Volunteers have the right

- > to perform their duties in a safe working environment.
- > to be engaged in a manner that does not offend equal opportunity and anti-discrimination legislation.
